Martek Marine

Background

Martek Marine makes safety and environmental monitoring systems for the global marine industry. The company was launched in 2000 and has enjoyed dramatic growth. From just two employees it now has grown significantly, with a £multi million turnover and business in 82 countries.

Since its launch Martek has won a long string of awards in recognition of its innovative approach and outstanding achievements.

This company has collected the International Initiative of the Year title at the CBI Growing Business Awards as well as prestigious Queen's Awards in the Innovation and International Trade categories. Martek picked up the Innovation Award for its Bulksafe system, which detects the presence of water in cargo holds, and the International Trade Award for its outstanding performance in the export market.

To help sustain the growth pattern, Martek has opened a new regional office in Hong Kong to service the Asia/Pacific region, and plans to establish a dedicated facility in Japan.

The Support

The company started life in the smallest unit in Century Business Centre and has recently relocated to new premises to accommodate its continued growth. Support from RiDO has covered everything from the basics in the early days, to help with relocation and grants.

"The support we've received has been fantastic. Starting out was daunting and the team at Century were flexible, offering us great facilities at a low cost. As we've grown they have continued to work with us and, we feel, share our success."
